THE PERFECTION MEAT CUTTER.

For family use it is not only necessary to cut raw meats, but cooked meats, chicken, lobsters, oysters, etc., for croquettes; hash of all kinds; suet, codfish; material for mince pies and fruit cakes; almonds and cocoanuts for cakes; pulverizing stale bread and crackers for frying purposes; chopping vegetables for soup; beef for beef tea, and many other purposes. Not only will the Perfection Cutter do this thoroughly, but it will cut equally well raw beef and pork for sausages, liver, etc., either hot or cold, for puddings, scrapple, hog-head cheese, and be used for many other purposes required by butchers and farmers.

You can iron in the parlors as well, or in the yard or garden. The starch will neither stick to the bottom of the "Gem" nor on the piece you iron. When you have the "Gem" your hired girl will stay longer with you and wash and ironing day will be dreaded no longer.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA.

THE DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH SEES POINTS IN WHICH THEY DIFFER.

A Talk With the British Peer in New York on Journalism and Politics—American Newspapers Not Up to the English Idea—What the London Reader Wants and What the American Gets.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, who have been sojourning for a time at Lenox, and more recently at the country residence of Dr. Eward Webb in Northern Vermont, have returned to town and will remain here probably until the date set for their departure homeward. That will be some time before the end of the month. The Duke has not changed in appearance since his last visit early in 1880. That visit was brought to an end, it will be remembered, by his marriage to Mrs. Duke of Marlborough, Louis C. Hammerley.

This occurred in July and was followed immediately by the sailing of the Duke and Duchess for Europe. The Duchess of Marlborough has returned here once since that time, but was unaccompanied by her distinguished husband. She was then received with the greatest cordiality, and fashionable people in New York exerted themselves to show her special attention, and this cordiality has, if possible, been even more marked on the occasion of this second visit here.

LITERARY SIMPLIFY THE MIND. remarked the source of a recent conversation, "with the statement of a journalist to the effect that literature has nothing to do with journalism, and I have quoted that statement a number of times as an illustration of what I cannot help regarding as something essentially American. It seems to me, of course, that this is tantamount to a confession that those who make newspapers and who are supposed to be, in a sense, the educators of the people, are not animated by the high aims and worthy purposes that we are fond of associating with the idea of the newspaper of to-day. We believe that these journals are called into the cause of civilization, that they are the uncompromising allies of what is refined and artistic and on a sudden we are told that whatever journalism may be, it has nothing to do with literature. Literature is one thing, according to this view, and journalism another, and very different thing. That they deal with two distinct classes of ideas and that the fact of their using the same vehicle for expression does not establish any necessary relation."

"The fact in which newspapers are made up in this country does not seem to recommend itself to English taste. The use of emphatic headlines is something to which an Englishman would find it difficult to accustom himself, and the breaking up of the news into a number of detached paragraphs. An English newspaper is divided into departments that always occupy the same position in the make-up of the paper. The consequence is that a reader can always turn promptly to the subject which he wishes to read. In the American newspaper he may have to hunt through the columns for several minutes before he discovers what he wants. This is a disadvantage.

"There is a tendency, also, towards the discussion of personality in American journalism which is not to be found in English journalism of the same class. The American newspaper engages to tell you all about people who have attracted notice. The English papers are given up more to the discussion of political and social questions and the principles of law directly affecting the progress of these discussions. English journalism is far more serious. An English journal would consider it little less than a crime to perpetrate a joke in its columns. In America the whole tendency of the journalism is humorous. News matters are presented, as far as possible, in a humorous way and the most serious subjects are treated in a burlesque point of view. In England this is impossible. With the great body of the people life is more earnest than it is in our more facile country. In America the news is treated as a joke, and the people are not serious. There is a constant struggle for bread. The problem of the two men and the one breakfast basket out of sight. In consequence all public and political questions will receive attention and study there that they do not receive here. Men will read long articles treating of these subjects because they affect directly the life of the time. Here there are no such difficulties presented. Political questions do not come home to the masses. The elections are not fraught with the solemn significance inseparable from the elections in an older country like England where social conditions are more intricate and complicated.

A STRUGGLE FOR PLACE. "What are the elections here? Simply occasions where the dominant party does everything they can to perpetuate its power, while the opposition party does everything it can to overthrow the incumbents of office, and for what? So that principles of government believed to be erroneous may be swept away and new and better ones established? Not at all. The elections are simply a struggle for office, and the accompanying emoluments. It will not always be so. The time will come when burning questions will force themselves to the front for settlement. They will be exhaustively discussed. Arguments, pro and con, will be laid before the great body of voters, and the elections will be occasions when the questions will be decided by the beliefs of the people. As matters are now, however, the American people do not seem to be interested in the most obvious matters concerning themselves. The foreigner cannot fail to criticize the way in which the city of New York is managed. Look at the streets. They take any pride in the appearance of the city. Way, the inhabitants of an Italian town would not tolerate such a condition of things. They would say: 'Here, we will submit to no such state of affairs. Our streets are our boulevard. Let our promenade stretch away so that it shall be a pleasure to walk abroad. It is a matter of no consequence that the wealthy classes live in Fifth avenue and similar thoroughfares. In keeping these streets as they should be the people are benefiting themselves."

LITIGATIONS.

Suit for Commission—A Detective Seeks Damages—Legal News.

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 8.—Charles E. Lewis, a New York broker, to-day commenced an assumpsit suit against Lydia J. Odwell, Secretary of the Mexican Marble Co. of this city, claiming $50,000 damages for breach of contract. The claim states that Odwell, Secretary of the company, agreed to allow Lewis the exclusive sale of $1,000,000 worth of bonds to be issued. Lewis went to New York and succeeded in interesting several capitalists in the paper and securing their promise to purchase it. He sent for the bonds, but was unable to get them on account of some difficulties which had arisen among the officers of the corporation. He claims to have lost the amount and for his commission.

A Detective Seeking Damages. NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 8.—Private Detective D. C. O'Malley has filed suit against Geo. W. Dupre and Henry J. Harney, editors and proprietors of the Daily States, for $10,000 damages to his character by having published him as a blackmailer, ex-convict and subversive of justice. The publication was made about the time the Committee of Fifty named O'Malley to keep away from the men arrested for the murder of Chief Hennessy.

A Negro Gets Heavy Damages. NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 8.—Wm. Lampkins, a negro living in Shiloh in this State, has been awarded $4,500 damages against the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad by the Supreme Court. The jury's verdict in the District Court granted him judgment for $7,000, but this higher tribunal amended by reducing the judgment to the amount above said. Several months ago Lampkins was forcibly ejected from a running train whereby he sustained the loss of a leg. Hence the suit.

RAILWAY NEWS.

President Adams' Reply in the Union Pacific Controversy—The L. & N.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 8.—The reports from the West published this morning, concerning President Adams' recent statement as to the result of the boycott against the Union Pacific were shown to Mr. Adams to-day by a reporter. He said: "The statement made to you the other day concerning the loss of traffic to the Union Pacific road is absolutely correct, but I have no desire to discuss the matter any further. This statement purporting to be one of certain railroad men in the West—who they are I don't know—gives figures in relation to this question that I am not disposed to enter into a controversy of this character. The implication is that I am falsifying or ignorant. It is noticeable that some of these people come out over their own signatures and make these assertions. What I said the other day was right then and is right now. The Union Pacific road is now crushed with traffic that it cannot properly handle. I am aware that with all our heavy business our earnings are not showing satisfactorily. The trouble is that we are short of motive power. We have only been able to get twenty-one of 100 engines ordered last May. If we had had the necessary equipment we could have kept the service up to the standard of the other roads. I have nothing to say to show the company's floating debt from what I have said the other day. The company is not in the market as a borrower of money and it has no obligations of any importance maturing in the immediate future. All talk to the contrary is not true. It emanates from Wall street. No new bond issue is contemplated and none has been excepting that in connection with the Oregon Navigation purchase, which is well understood. The report of a pending change in the management is only to be expected in connection with the other pending upon the road and it has no more truth in it than all the other yarns."

Passenger Rate Complications. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 8.—The passenger rate complication, are being to Chicago from Kansas City, which has been $11.50 through the brokers, is said to be out to $10 by some one. Unlimited tickets are being used and it is said that a large number of these have been put recently placed on the market. A. C. Finley was picked up at Chicago yesterday which had come west. One Chicago man reported to the Chairman. It being a cold pool, the road was having on their sales, and it is rumored that something heavy is to drop soon.

Chairman Finley, in his ruling on the $2.50 rate to St. Louis, said that he had carefully considered the situation at Kansas City and authorized the reduced rate in order to meet the competition of the brokers. He also stated that whenever he was satisfied that there were any tickets on the market in a number sufficient to affect the regular rates he would make a rate to meet such a matter whether it was proved that the tickets came there through irregular or regular methods.

A passenger man said to-day: "Mr. Townsend, General Passenger Agent of the Missouri Pacific, admitted to Chairman Finley the truthfulness of the charge that there were fully two hundred unlimited Missouri Pacific train checks in the market at Kansas City and Omaha, but stated that the bulk of them were at Omaha. He suggested that if the rate was made from Kansas City to St. Louis it would be necessary to make the same reduction of the rate from Omaha to St. Louis. Mr. Finley said that he would authorize the rate out of Omaha, if convinced that the tickets or checks were in the market there in sufficient numbers to affect the $11 reduction as a basis rate through both St. Louis and Chicago. The St. Louis agent announced the fact yesterday that it would apply the rate. All of the lines, excepting the Santa Fe, began using the rate immediately, but the latter gave the requisite three days' notice and the new basis will not be in effect until Monday, Nov. 11. The question of legality in applying the rate without notice is overlooked seemingly by the other lines."

A Complete Statement. CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 8.—Chairman Alden F. Walker of the Inter-state Railway Association to-day sent out to lines of the North-western road a complete statement of the rate and revenue of the different lines for comparison of the pool. It was the structive object lesson as regards maintenance of rates, there having been almost no competition made in the best and cheapest mode of making coffee and tea. A child can operate it as well as an experienced cook, and it takes less than one minute to make coffee as clear as wine, and containing all of the aroma lost by the old method of boiling.

The above figures apply on the traffic between Aug. 1 and Oct. 31. The full correspondence between the Union Pacific and the Western lines which resulted in the present boycott against the former has been put together in a ten-page pamphlet by one of the Chicago lines. The compiler said to-day: "The correspondence shows a headstrong arrogance on the part of the Union Pacific positively appealing to the passenger traffic element among Western railroads. It shows that the unreasonable demand for rates is not a new thing, but a constant feature of the Chicago line. The compiler said to-day: 'We would be expected to answer the demand. Finally it got $40,000 a year in a week amount to $40,000. The pamphlet is labeled 'A Monument of Folly.' There are no actual new facts in the pamphlet and it is too long to publish in full."

L. & N. Winter Schedule. The winter schedule of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, which goes into effect to-day, gives a double daily train service between St. Louis and the South and North. Leaving here at 7:30 p. m. daily, they arrive in Jacksonville, Fla., the second evening at 11:30 o'clock, making direct through connections via Nashville and Montgomery. They also run a through sleeper from St. Louis daily at 7:30 p. m. daily, they arrive in Jacksonville, Fla., the second evening at 11:30 o'clock. The run from this city to Jacksonville, Fla., can be made on either train. First-class fares.

MUSICAL MELANGE.

SOME INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS ABOUT ST. LOUIS SINGERS AND PLAYERS.

Mr. Ernest Kroeger Composing a Symphony—Programme at the Leading Churches This Morning. The Concert in Aid of the Good Samaritan Hospital—Persons About Musical People.

His afternoon at a concert at the St. Louis Hotel. The program was as follows: Requiem Mass will be sung at the Church of the Messiah, on the corner of Garrison street and Locust street. The choir consists of Miss Adelaide Kalkman, soprano; Miss Minnie Bruer, alto; Mr. Charles Metcalf, tenor; Mr. Arthur Weld, bass, and Mr. E. R. Kroeger, organist and musical director. There will also be a chorus of about twenty voices. This is probably one of the most beautiful masses ever written and it is very doubtful whether it will ever be known just how Mozart came to compose it as there are two theories in regard to it. The most generally believed is that when Mozart was very poor a stranger came to him and ordered him to write a requiem and then left in a very mysterious manner, leaving the words and music to be sent. Mozart at once started to write, but died while writing at the table, the pen falling from his hand on the MS. of the great work, which has been sung over so many dead and to the strains of which so many living have wept for the loved ones departed.

Mr. Ernest R. Kroeger at present composing a symphony, a task the difficulty of which but few people appreciate. Miss Eugenie Dusschael, the talented solo, whose voice has been heard frequently in concerts, and who is a member of the "Temple Israel choir," received an offer to become leading contralto in an English opera company recently.

The Ovide Musin Concert Co., which will be heard here this season, consists of the following well known artists: Miss Annie Louie Tanser and Messrs. Ines Parmesan, Karl Stöer, Edward Scharf, R. E. Johnson and Ovide Musin.

Prof. H. Darby, leader of the "Apollo Singing Society," and organist at Christ Church, has removed to No. 143 Chestnut street. The regular choir, which consists of Prof. George Jarvis.

Miss Fannie Biemphal-Zeiler of Chicago, who made such a success here at the Musical Union concert last winter, was given an ovation at Detroit last Monday, where she sang with the Detroit Philharmonic Club.

Miss Zekula Sobolewski, whose father is well known here and who has been a constant best local musician, has returned from Italy, where she has been studying the art of singing under the guidance of the great vocal masters. She possesses a beautiful soprano voice and has met with considerable success in Europe.

Mr. J. McElhenny has been engaged as tenor at the St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Messrs. Jesse Cornelius and Emil A. Becker, both prominent tenors and the latter a constant member of the Apollo Singing Society.

Mr. Louis H. Hoffman has returned to this city from Chicago to reside permanently. He formerly played the bass violin in the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra.

Next Sunday evening a series of songs will be rendered at the St. George's Episcopal Church. The regular choir, which consists of Mrs. Wm. Kammmerer, soprano; Miss Melchior, alto; Mr. Corvay, tenor; and Mr. Hoffman, bass, will be augmented by Mr. Ludwig W. Hoffman, the brilliant young soloist.

Miss Jessie Foster, the eminent and successful concert singer, will sing this evening at the Rock Church. She possesses a beautiful and well trained soprano and can well be classed as one of the best vocalists in the city.

Mr. A. G. Jones, the baritone, is taking a three weeks' vacation and contemplates going on a hunting expedition to the mountains. Mr. Ben Sellers in one of the best guitar soloists in the city.

Mr. P. G. Anton possesses probably the oldest book of music in this city. It was printed in 1780 and is a copy of the "Musical Repository" of the year 1780, and formerly belonged to the school of this city. It is a book of the best of the best books of chorals ever composed. Until recently it was bound in a leather cover, but was returned by a friend who had borrowed it minus this outer garb.

Mr. Anton used to possess one of the best sets of which Sobolewski studied in the year 1821. This work is "The Treatment of the Organ," by P. F. Maury, and was printed in 1805 by A. Kuhn.

The following programme will be rendered this morning at the Church of the Messiah: Organ voluntary, Hock; chorus, "As the Sun Shines," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn.

Master Arthur Vogel, a member of Vogel's symphony orchestra, played a violin solo at the concert at the Church of the Messiah, which was very successful. The programme was as follows:

Organ voluntary, Hock; chorus, "As the Sun Shines," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn.

The programme at St. George's Church this morning will be as follows:

Organ voluntary, Hock; chorus, "As the Sun Shines," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn.

During the week the following programme will be rendered at the Church of the Messiah:

Organ voluntary, Hock; chorus, "As the Sun Shines," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn; male quartet, "Let Us Sing," Mendelssohn.

REJOICE, ye girls

...my intimate girl friends, for society
is always having many intimate girl-friends.
I have a shopping hour to make, a luncheon
to attend or to give, she has receptions, several of them perhaps to go to. There are dinner parties to make. There are the little dinners which are so ceremonious, then the ball, a concert, the theater must be on the program two or three times each week.
Then the countless entertainments of the cucumbers and carrots made up the salad. At a dinner similar to this given in 1900, the only difference being since only when the honeysuckle formed the flowers and the wild grapes the fruit, there were small silver baskets holding bouquets of small and cascaded grapes which were placed in front of each cover and silver fans, leaf shaped with silver handles, served for fans. The oaken sideboard was festooned with the vines and fruit and likewise the doorways were draped with the

By the way, the lady who furnished the social sensation, the other day, was a Miss M. B. Johnson, of the address given above.

AT THE LOCAL THEATERS.

ST. LOUISANS TREATED TO COMEDY, MILO DRAMA AND BULLDOGS THIS WEEK.

Miss Coghlan's brilliant comedy, "An Unclassified Drama—The Vendition of 'Eck-less Temple'—Young Mrs. Blaine's 'Flame'
—Patti's Religious Belief—Gossip About Plays and Players—Attractions of the Week—Comical Chat.

ROSE COGHLAN probably never impressed her magnetic personality and artistic qualities more strongly
upon St. Louisans
than during her engagement at the Olympic last week.
Her purpose was
to show a new heteroform. She has been in the position of a star doing fine work
in various channels as if groping for her place. Her first season in old comedies scored a high artistic success. Then she high melodrama and the public scarcely knew where to place her or what to expect of her.
Last week she appeared in two comedies,
"The Wagoner" and "London Assurance,"
and in that repulsive, but fine emotional vehicle, "Forget Me Not." In all of them
she displayed a broadened and heightened grasp, a clearness of purpose and a skill of expression which proved the ripe artist.
Her comedy, however, is especially charming because added to her skill there is a spontaneity of humor, a bubbling effervescence, a flow of spirits which is altogether captivating.
Her prime qualities mark her as a comedienne
above all else and that embraces the widest range of versatility and power.

Miss Coghlan had admirable leading support in John T. Sullivan, who is an intelligent, strong actor, combining in unusual degree force with refinement. Thomas Whiffen gave a most artistic piece of work as Tripoli, but the company needed strengthening in spots.
It is gratifying to learn that in plans which Miss Coghlan is forming for the future under her own management are embraced the production of old and new comedies in handsome style with a thoroughly capable company.
There is a good reason for her in this line of work.

It perhaps cannot be said that "Mr. Barnes of New York" is unusual, because there are many who are large and strong, and who are trying to pick acquaintance with young women doing what is commonly called the stage act, there are many who are large and strong, and who are trying to pick acquaintance with young women doing what is commonly called the stage act, there are many who are large and strong, and who are trying to pick acquaintance with young women doing what is commonly called the stage act.

Despite the election, "extremism all of the theaters did well. Miss Coghlan played to much larger receipts than last season, "Mr.
Barnes of New York" drew a large house,
and the "Eckless Temple" was a success.
The new comedy with Miss Coghlan, "The Wagoner" and "London Assurance," was a success.

ASSOCIATION REPORTS.

INTERESTING Gossip ABOUT THE DOINGS
OF BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

Some of the Secretaries Developing Into Spicy Correspondents—What They Have to Say About the Business and Progress
of Respective Institutions—Nominations
and Election of Officers—A Model Report
From Mr. Fish.

THE BUILDING Association, in addition to being of great value to the masses in aiding
them to secure
homes, are developing a corps of very
gossipy secretaries,
whose weekly contributions to the
SUNDAY POST-DIS-PATCH are becoming
the mother of the strange young tattle-tale with every issue of the paper.

A model of much merit for the news it contains, written by Mr. Edward S. Fish, will be found in this column. G. W. Davis is considered as one of the best secretaries, and his gossipy tales are fairly well told by several other contributors, who avail themselves of this very effective method of keeping their associations before the public.

Secretary Dunningham of the Henry Clay reports active inquiry for loans and says he expects a large number of applications to be made at the next meeting. Stock in this association has been nearly all disposed of or will be at the next meeting.

Home City, at its last regular meeting,
elected the following named officers for the ensuing year: Mr. E. H. Coffin,
President; Mr. C. B. Smith, Vice-President;
Mr. Gus Fry, Treasurer, and H. C. Hamilton, Secretary. The association for the past year was re-elected to office.

Mr. Hamilton reports the sale of third series stock progressing very satisfactory.

The Jefferson has organized by the election of the following named officers:
Robert M. Noonan, President; Joseph G.
Hercules, Vice-President; John H. Vette,
Treasurer; Martin Kelly, Secretary.

Robert M. Noonan, President, H. W. Hart-
wig, M. D., J. J. Cooper, Wm. Ellison, J. H.
Vette, J. E. Graft, J. G. Hercules, J. Harry
Randall, R. F. Miller, Albert Snodgrass, James Thurby, John Houlder.

The Western Mutual, says its Secretary, R.
E. Kilgen, met on Tuesday night, Mr. A. S.
Fletcher, Secretary, reported that the association had received from the directors of
G. H. Hall, the Treasurer, is in California.

These gentlemen are on an outing for both pleasure and business. The Association's second series is doing remarkably well. De-positors of this series have been making a good thing of it. At the last meeting $4,000 were loaned at 25 per cent premium.

McDonald stooped and picked up the cards. When he looked on the table his $1 wagon and he realized the significance of the negro "awkwardness." Every one of the fellows persisted that they had not even seen the bus, and when the soldier started to raise a row coolly threw him out on the sidewalk. The police could do nothing, as McDonald could not tell which one of the men had taken his money.

THE ANTIQUITY OF MAN.

Parapets for Students in the Mercantile Library to Study Out the Subject.

Recent research has shown beyond reasonable doubt that man existed on the earth many thousands or tens of thousands of years before the beginning of historic times, the study of primeval remains has become one of the most promising and fascinating branches of scientific inquiry and a stimulus to collectors. The remains of the mound-builders that are thickly scattered over the entire continent of North America are evidence that this region was inhabited by a people who had attained considerable progress toward civilization. It is a natural inference from what we know of the present-day Indians that the Mound Builders must have preceded by countless generations of centuries those now living here. Someday they would reveal traces of them.

The following is a brief statement making clear why it is necessary to study the subject and how guided investigators can "Hands" in other countries. Such apparatus can be found in the Mercantile Library, the best to begin with brief introductions to the subject, which will give a bird's-eye view of the whole. These will be found in the articles on "Archæology" in the Encyclopædia Britannica and "Archæology," and in the article "Mensch," in the edition of Meyer's "Konversations-Lexikon," to which, with other encyclopædias, is unrestricted access in the reference room. A little book by William Durham, entitled "The Prehistoric Man," will give you still more elementary chapter on the subject, and a little book by the same author, on special subject with any thoroughgoing student, is a book which is not only advisable to read some such brief works on the subject, but also to read the book, "Anthropology," and Letourneau's "Anthropology," in order to get the correct line.

For a resume of the prehistoric archaeology of the world, and the prehistoric archaeology of America, together with references to the literature, see the produced for the "Sunday Morning Post" by the author, who was a member of the "Saturday Review" staff. The book is a collection of essays on the history of the human mind, and is a valuable contribution to the literature of the subject. The author's style is clear and concise, and his arguments are well supported by evidence. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the history of the human mind.

which befell Chief Hennessey of New Orleans. He never goes home alone at night as accustomed to do before the Southern assassination, long ago while walking from an Eighth car to his home on fifty-eighth street, across from the avenue. He was accosted by Italians who ran away when Sergeant Hennessey hurried up to his Chief's side with a revolver in his hand. Since then it is the Chief has gone home before nightfall and his evenings with his family.
